

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910451648803321
Autore	Higgs Robert
Titolo	Depression, war, and cold war [[electronic resource] ] : studies in political economy / / by Robert Higgs
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Oakland, CA, : Independent Institute, c2006
ISBN	1-280-84555-4 0-19-534608-4 1-4294-3108-3
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (238 p.)
Disciplina	330.973/091
Soggetti	War - Economic aspects - United States Depressions - 1929 - United States Electronic books. United States Economic conditions 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Regime uncertainty : why the great depression lasted so long and why prosperity resumed after the war -- Private profit, public risk : institutional antecedents of the modern military procurement system in the rearmament program of 1940-1941 -- Wartime prosperity? a reassessment of the U.S. economy in the 1940s -- Wartime socialization of investment : a reassessment of U.S. capital formation in the 1940s -- From central planning to the market : the American transition, 1945-1947 -- The cold war economy : opportunity costs, ideology, and the politics of crisis -- Hard coals make bad law : congressional parochialism versus national defense -- Airplanes the Pentagon didn't want, but Congress did -- Profits of U.S. defense contractors -- Public opinion : a powerful predictor of U.S. defense spending.
Sommario/riassunto	Aims to recast our view of the relations between the federal government and the economy from the New Deal era to the end of the Cold War, presenting evidence, statistical analyses, and different interpretations of familiar data. This book is of interest to students, researchers, and educated lay people in political economy and economic history.

---