

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910451679903321
Autore	Wagner Peter <1956 September 18->
Titolo	A history and theory of the social sciences [[electronic resource]] : not all that is solid melts into air // Peter Wagner
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : SAGE, c2001
ISBN	1-283-88102-0 1-4462-6451-3 0-7619-6568-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (209 p.)
Collana	Theory, culture & society
Disciplina	300.9
Soggetti	Social sciences - History Social sciences - Philosophy Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Contents; Acknowledgements; Introduction Historicising the Social Sciences; Part I - Reconsidering the History of the Social Sciences; Chapter 1 - As a Philosophical Science Unjustifiable, as an Empirical Science Anything else but New; Chapter 2 - Time of Politics, and not of Law; Chapter 3 - Adjusting Social Relations; Chapter 4 - The Mythical Promise of Societal Renewal; Chapter 5 - Out of Step; Part II - Rethinking Key Concepts of the Social Sciences; Chapter 6 - Choice and Decision-Making; Chapter 7 - Action and Institution; Chapter 8 - Culture (with Heidrun Friese) Chapter 9 - Society Chapter 10 - Polity; Chapter 11 - Modernity; Notes; References; Index
Sommario/riassunto	This work provides a unique, systematic account of the emergence and development of the social sciences in relation to the politico-institutional development of Western societies - linking a history to the theory.