

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910452351303321
Autore	Gordon J. C (John C.), <1939->
Titolo	Environmental leadership equals essential leadership [[electronic resource]] : redefining who leads and how / / John C. Gordon and Joyce K. Berry ; with a foreword by Norman L. Christensen, Jr
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New Haven, : Yale University Press, c2006
ISBN	1-281-73118-8 9786611731182 0-300-13297-2
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (193 p.)
Altri autori (Persone)	BerryJoyce K
Disciplina	333.72/0684
Soggetti	Environmental responsibility - Study and teaching (Higher) - United States Conservation leadership - Study and teaching (Higher) - United States Leadership - Study and teaching (Higher) - United States Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [153]-156) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Becoming an essential leader -- Leaders see today's world -- Essential leadership attributes -- Solving environmental problems : long times and complexity -- Solving environmental problems : emotion, values, integration, and focus -- From old leadership to essential leadership -- Installing essential leadership in your life and organization -- Lessons from popular leadership books -- Essential leadership now and in the future.
Sommario/riassunto	The important new approach to leadership that John Gordon and Joyce Berry explain in this book is built upon the experiences of environmental and natural resource organizations as they contend with complex, long-term problems. But the lessons learned apply beyond these groups--to all modern organizations, for-profit and non-profit, that are dealing with the complicated conditions of the twenty-first century. Leadership is a learned skill and can be acquired by anyone willing to make the effort, say the authors. And, through case studies of a variety of organizations, they emphasize that all members of productive groups must be ready to take the lead when their specific skills are most relevant to the problem at hand. The authors analyze how organizations and individuals can adopt this new leadership mode, and they discuss the results of a recent survey of leadership ideas and attitudes among active environmental leaders. Shifting emphasis away from celebrated leaders on the world stage, Gordon and Berry focus on "essential" leadership-the kind that engages each member of an organization on an everyday basis.
