

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910453658003321
Autore	Jandl Thomas <1965->
Titolo	Vietnam in the global economy : the dynamics of integration, decentralization, and contested politics // Thomas Jandl
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham : , : Lexington Books, , [2013] ©2013
ISBN	1-4985-2537-7 0-7391-7787-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (316 p.)
Disciplina	327.597
Soggetti	Decentralization in government - Economic aspects - Vietnam Economic development - Vietnam Investments, Foreign - Vietnam Rent seeking - Vietnam Electronic books. Vietnam Economic policy 1975-
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographies.
Nota di contenuto	Theory and research methodology -- From roving to stationary bandit : a history -- Decentralization, FDI, and provincial governance -- Proximity and contestation -- Race to the bottom vs. harmony of interest -- Capital-labor relations and the harmony of interest -- Central-local harmony and political control -- Lessons for theory and practice.
Sommario/riassunto	This book describes in a game-theoretical approach how the development success story Vietnam managed to keep rent seeking in check sufficiently to attract record numbers of foreign investors and exhibit strong economic growth in the early stages of its economic reforms. It concludes that pluralistic contestation among societal interests under conditions of factor mobility can lead to the same benefits that are generally associated with liberal democracy--commitment to limited government through checks and balances.