1.	Record Nr.	UNINA9910453815503321
	Titolo	The developing world : critical issues in politics and society / / edited by E. Ike Udogu
	Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham, Maryland : , : Scarecrow Press, , 2012
	ISBN	0-8108-8476-3
	Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (235 p.)
	Disciplina	320.9172/4
	Soggetti	Electronic books. Developing countries Politics and government Developing countries Social conditions
	Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
	Formato	Materiale a stampa
	Livello bibliografico	Monografia
	Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
	Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
	Nota di contenuto	Liberal democratization and democracy -- Law enforcement issues -- Human rights constraints -- Gender marginalization: a discourse on the status of women in South Asia and how it might be tackled -- Mexican political development and its influence on Central America -- The politics of development and protection of the environment -- Boosting access to computer technology as a way of improving education.
	Sommario/riassunto	In this book, contributors explore the challenges presented by political, cultural, religious, social, and economic practices to the future development of the nation-states in the developing world. The essays gathered here-authored by seasoned scholars with deep social, political, and academic roots in Africa, Asia, and Latin America-offer holistic examinations of how improvements in politics, social arrangements, and information communication technologies contribute to the effectiveness of these emerging nations' internal politics and influence on world affairs. This work wi