The role of narrative -- 3. Defending the historical thesis -- 4. The critical approach: MacIntyre -- 5. The diagnostic approach: Heidegger -- 6. The synthetic approach: Ricoeur. In this book Robert Piercey asks how it is possible to do philosophy by Sommario/riassunto studying the thinkers of the past. He develops his answer through readings of Martin Heidegger, Richard Rorty, Paul Ricoeur, Alasdair MacIntyre and other historically-minded philosophers. Piercey shows that what is distinctive about these figures is a concern with philosophical pictures - extremely general conceptions of what the world is like - rather than specific theories. He offers a comprehensive and illuminating exploration of the way in which these thinkers use narrative to evaluate and criticise these pictures. The result is a powerful and original account of how philosophers use the past.
