

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910454110703321
Autore	Mazrim Robert
Titolo	The Sangamo frontier [[electronic resource]] : history and archaeology in the shadow of Lincoln // Robert Mazrim
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Chicago, : University of Chicago Press, 2007
ISBN	0-226-51423-4 1-281-96593-6 9786611965938
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (364 p.)
Disciplina	977.3/56
Soggetti	Historic sites - Illinois - Springfield Region Excavations (Archaeology) - Illinois - Springfield Region Archaeology and history - Illinois - Springfield Region Frontier and pioneer life - Illinois - Springfield Region Electronic books. Springfield Region (Ill.) Antiquities Springfield Region (Ill.) History 19th century Springfield Region (Ill.) History, Local Sangamon River Valley (Ill.) History, Local
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 331-346) and index.
Nota di contenuto	The making of an American frontier -- The arrival of archaeology and the shadow of Lincoln -- Before the Americans -- The Americans -- At home, 1800-1840 -- Under the house, behind the house -- Goods in the forests -- The hole in the map -- A new frontier -- Overlooking wilderness : excavations at Elkhart Hill -- Earthenware at Cotton Hill : the Ebey-Brunk Kiln site -- The origins of a state capital : the Iles Store site -- Moses's Sangamo : relocating a lost town -- Exploring Moses's Sangamo : excavations at Sangamo town -- Lincoln's New Salem : history and archaeology -- Behind Lincoln's New Salem : archaeology and revisionism -- The end of the trail.
Sommario/riassunto	When Abraham Lincoln moved to Illinois' Sangamo Country in 1831, he found a pioneer community transforming from a cluster of log houses along an ancient trail to a community of new towns and state roads. But two of the towns vanished in a matter of years, and many of the activities and lifestyles that shaped them were almost entirely forgotten. In The Sangamo Frontier, archaeologist Robert Mazrim unearths the buried history of this early American community, breathing new life into a region that still rests in Lincoln's shadow. Named after a shallow river that cuts
