Sommario/riassunto	Local governments do not stand alone-they find themselves in new relationships not only with state and federal government, but often with a widening spectrum of other public and private organizations as well. The result of this re-forming of local governments calls for new collaborations and managerial responses that occur in addition to governmental and bureaucratic processes-as-usual, bringing locally generated strategies or what the authors call ""jurisdiction-based management"" into play. Based on an extensive study of 237 cities within five states, Collaborative Public Management provides
