

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910454868403321
Autore	Forrester Michael A
Titolo	Psychology of language [[electronic resource]] : a critical introduction / / Muchael A. Forrester
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, : SAGE, 1996
ISBN	1-4462-7922-7 9786612262609 1-282-26260-2 1-84920-721-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (225 p.)
Disciplina	401.9 401/.9
Soggetti	Psycholinguistics Linguistics Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [197]-210) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Contents; Acknowledgements; 1 - Introduction; 2 - Language Structure and the Significance of Recursion; 3 - Semantics: The Concept of Meaning; 4 - Deixis: The Interface between Language and Social Interaction; 5 - Conversational Analysis and Accountability in Everyday Talk; 6 - Processes and Procedures in Conversational Interaction; 7 - Power Relations in Language; 8 - Sign-Systems and Social Semiotics; 9 - The Role of the Reader in Text Interpretation; 10 - Writing and the Construction of Narrative Text; 11 - Postmodern Psychology and Language: Discourse Analysis and Social Psychology References Index
Sommario/riassunto	'Psychology of Language' examines both the formal/structural aspects of linguistics and psycholinguistics and the concerns of sociolinguistics, conversation analysis, and social semiotics. Author Michael A. Forrester discusses three levels of communication: thinking - the cognitive processes of self-communication; talk - with an emphasis on everyday conversational behaviour; text - including the study of reading and writing. Within these areas, Forrester introduces a wide range of subjects, from language structure, semantics, and deixis to conversation, power relations in language, interpretation, and postmodern psychology.
