

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910454895203321
Titolo	Teaching in the primary school : a learning relationship // edited by Neil Kitson and Roger Merry
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London ; ; New York : , : Routledge, , 1997
ISBN	1-134-75366-7 1-280-32691-3 0-203-13715-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (204 p.)
Altri autori (Persone)	KitsonNeil MerryRoger
Disciplina	372.941
Soggetti	Education, Elementary - Great Britain Elementary school teaching - Great Britain Child development - Great Britain Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Contents; List of illustrations; Introduction: teaching a learning relationship; Just for fun? The child as active learner and meaning maker; Children's development 3 7: the learning relationship in the early years; Cognitive development 7 11: the learning relationship in the junior years; Children with special educational needs: supporting the learning relationship; Keeping track: observing, assessing and recording in the learning relationship; Primary culture and classroom teaching: the learning relationship in context Look back and wonder: the reflective practitioner and the learning relationshipClassroom talk: communicating within the learning relationship; Managing primary schools: facilitating the learning relationship; Back to the future: the learning relationship in initial teacher training; Index
Sommario/riassunto	It is now widely recognized that learners are more successful when they are active participants in the learning relationship. This book offers a general introduction to primary education and child development, using the learning relationship between teachers and children as its focus. Divided into two parts, the first looks at the child's contribution to the learning relationship, and the second examines that of the teacher.

---