

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910455164703321
Autore	Jordan Weymouth T., Jr., <1938->
Titolo	Ante-bellum Alabama : town and country / / Weymouth T. Jordan ; with an introduction by Kenneth R. Johnson
Pubbl/distr/stampa	University, Alabama : , : University of Alabama Press, , [1987] ©1957
ISBN	0-8173-8867-2 0-585-09802-6
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (193 p.)
Collana	Library of Alabama classics
Disciplina	976
Soggetti	Electronic books. Alabama History 1819-1950
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Reprint. Originally published: Tallahassee, Fla. : Florida State University, c1957. Includes index.
Nota di bibliografia	Bibliography: pages [161]-165.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Introduction by Kenneth R. Johnson; Preface; 1. Metropolis by the Sea; 2. A Black Belt Town; 3. A Black Belt Planter Family; 4. A Family Daybook; 5. Negro ""Peculiarities""; 6. The Crusade for Agricultural Reform; 7. The Industrial Gospel; Bibliography; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Ante-Bellum Alabama: Town and Country was written to give the reader insight into important facers of Alabama's ante-bellum history. Presented in the form of case studies from the pre-Civil War period, the book deals with a city, a town, a planter's family, rural social life, attitudes concerning race, and Alabama's early agricultural and industrial development. Ante-bellum Alabama's primary interest was agriculture; the chief crop was King Cotton; and most of the people were agriculturalists. Towns and cities came into existence to supply the agricultural needs of the state and to proces