

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910455494003321
Autore	Robertson Gordon <1917->
Titolo	Memoirs of a very civil servant : Mackenzie King to Pierre Trudeau / / Gordon Robertson
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Toronto, [Ontario] : , : University of Toronto Press, , 2000 ©2000
ISBN	1-282-03707-2 9786612037078 1-4426-7720-1
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (437 p.)
Disciplina	971.06/092
Soggetti	Civil service - Canada BIOGRAPHY & AUTOBIOGRAPHY / Political Electronic books. Canada Politics and government 1945- Canada Officials and employees Biography
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Includes index.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Frontmatter -- Contents -- Preface -- Acknowledgments -- PART ONE. From the Prairies to Ottawa, 1917-1941 -- 1. From the Prairies to Oxford, 1917-1938 -- 2. From Oxford to Ottawa, 1938-1941 -- PART TWO. External Affairs and Mackenzie King, 1941-1948 -- 3. The Department of External Affairs, 1941-1945 -- 4. Working for Mackenzie King, 1945-1948 -- PART THREE. Louis St Laurent and a New North, 1948-1963 -- 5. Working with Louis St Laurent, 1948-1953 -- 6. Canada Discovers the North, 1953-1957 -- 7. Governing the Northwest Territories, 1953-1957 -- 8. The Territories under the Vision, 1958-1963 -- 9. The Emerging North -- PART FOUR. 'Mike' Pearson and a Changing Canada, 1963-1968 -- 10. Pearson and the Quiet Revolution -- 11. The Symbols and Structure of Canada -- PART FIVE. Winds of Change with Pierre Trudeau, 1968-1980 -- 12. Pierre Trudeau and a New Style of Governing, 1968-1970 -- 13. Trudeau and the Constitution, 1968-1979 -- 14. Transition and Change, 1978-1980 -- Part Six. Trudeau's 'Power Play,' Meech Lake, and the

Charlottetown Accord, 1980-1992 -- 15. The Trudeau Power Play, 1980-1982 -- 16. Away from Government -- 17. Meech Lake: The Best Hope Lost -- 18. Meech Lake Dead: Where Next? -- Epilogue -- Notes -- Index

Sommario/riassunto

Born in Saskatchewan in 1917, Gordon Robertson worked at the centre of government power from 1945 until his retirement in 1979. He worked directly with Prime Ministers King, St-Laurent, Pearson, and Trudeau, serving as senior advisor to the latter two. Commissioner of the Northwest Territories from 1953 to 1963, he also became the first Deputy Minister of the new Department of Northern Affairs under Jean Lesage. In this memoir he presents a first-hand account of the events and personalities that shaped Canada during the critical post-war period. Robertson tells of Canada's development from colony to nation and the prime ministers who presided over the process. He provides an assessment of each prime minister in action: how they organized the cabinets, what their qualities were and how these related to their failures and successes. Himself influential in many areas of government, Robertson played a key role in the long debate on constitutional reform and national unity. Even after his retirement, he remained active as an unofficial constitutional networker. Gordon Robertson has written no ordinary memoir. Along with the key events and personalities of his day he describes the development of his own ideas about the nature of Canada and its constitutional future. The result is a significant historical document, one that brings much insight to the history of post-war Canada.
