

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910455645603321
Autore	Billings Harold <1931->
Titolo	Magic and hypersystems [[electronic resource] ] : constructing the information-sharing library / / by Harold Billings
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Chicago, : American Library Assoc, 2002
ISBN	0-8389-9960-3
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (158 p.)
Disciplina	021.6/5
Soggetti	Library science - Technological innovations Library information networks Library cooperation Information technology Collection development (Libraries) Research libraries - Automation Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	CONTENTS; PREFACE; 1; 2; 3; 4; 5; 6; 7; 8; 9; 10; 11; 12; INDEX;
Sommario/riassunto	Taking a penetrating look at the history of information systems, from the past to the present and future, veteran librarian and digital network expert Harold Billings discusses the impact of the information revolution on libraries and information hubs worldwide. Tracing the seminal origins of the Web to the new, borderless access to information, Magic and Hypersystems is a powerful meditation on how libraries can not only fit into the digital information flow but also capitalize on their role in it. Billings connects the dots from sixteenth century knowledge organization—based on "magic," im