

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910456927303321
Autore	Berns Walter <1919->
Titolo	Lincoln at two hundred [[electronic resource]] : why we still read the sixteenth president // Walter Berns ; with an introduction by Leon R. Kass
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Washington, D.C., : AEI Press Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., : Distributed to the trade by National Book Network, c2010
ISBN	1-283-02941-3 9786613029416 0-8447-4365-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (26 p.)
Disciplina	973.7092 B
Soggetti	Presidents - United States Political leadership - United States Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Title page; TOC; Introduction; Lincoln at Two Hundred; Untitled
Sommario/riassunto	Abraham Lincoln was the greatest of our presidents. He saved the Union, and because he saved the Union, he was able to free the slaves. But he did more than this. Without him, we might have had no reason to celebrate the bicentennial first of Declaration of Independence and the then of the Constitution. It is therefore altogether fitting that we mark the bicentennial of Lincoln's birth.