

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910457883803321
Autore	Smith Graham
Titolo	The Mighty Eighth in the second World War [[electronic resource] /] / by Graham Smith
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Newbury, Berkshire, : Countryside Books, 2001
ISBN	1-283-43968-9 9786613439680 1-84674-809-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (376 p.)
Collana	Aviation History
Disciplina	940.544973
Soggetti	World War, 1939-1945 Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; Contents; Front Matter; Title Page; Publisher Information; Dedication; Map of Eighth Air Force Airfields; Acknowledgements; Introduction; The Mighty Eighth; The Eighth Air Force; The Airfields; The Aircraft; The Airmen; Yankee Doodle Goes To War; Eaker's 'Piddling Little Force'; 'Brought To The Brink Of Disaster'; From 'Black Week' To Beyond; A New Year and a New Commander; Battling to 'Big B'; 'Charged With a Most Solemn Obligation'; Focus Cats, Carpetbaggers, Night Owls...; The Restless Skies; 'When Will It All Be Over? By Christmas?'; Upwards And Onwards To Victory The Legacy of The Eighth Back Matter; Appendix A; Appendix B; Select Bibliography; Also Available
Sommario/riassunto	In May 1942, five months after the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the first aircraft and crews of the newly-formed Eighth US Army Air Force arrived in England. Over the next two years their numbers swelled to a massive and powerful force of bombers and fighters described by one USAAF General as 'the greatest striking force the world has ever known'. They occupied no less than 67 airfields in East Anglia, Cambridgeshire, Northamptonshire, Bedfordshire, Oxfordshire and Hertfordshire, and added a huge...

