

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910458380303321
Autore	Browne Jude
Titolo	Sex segregation and inequality in the modern labour market / Jude Browne
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Bristol, UK : , : Policy Press, , 2006 ©2006
ISBN	1-4473-0334-2 1-281-15959-X 9786611159597 1-84742-169-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (195 p.)
Disciplina	331.4/133
Soggetti	Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 157-168) and index.
Nota di contenuto	List of figures and tables -- Acknowledgements -- Introduction -- Explanations of occupational sex segregation -- VOSS in the BBC -- What people say in the BBC -- The 'herding effect' -- The seduction of outcomes: concluding remarks -- References -- Appendix 1. Examples of important reforms to British law relevant to sex equality -- Appendix 2. BBC occupational groups by female concentration, sex and pay grade -- Appendix 3. BBC pay grades -- Index.
Sommario/riassunto	This book presents a novel interpretation of the nature, causes and consequences of sex inequality in the modern labour market. Employing a sophisticated new theoretical framework, and drawing on original fieldwork, the book develops a subtle account of the phenomenon of sex segregation and offers a major challenge to existing approaches.