

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910458511503321
Autore	Fissell Mary Elizabeth
Titolo	Vernacular bodies : the politics of reproduction in early modern England // Mary E. Fissell [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Oxford ; ; New York, : Oxford University Press, 2004
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (viii, 283 p. ) : ill. ;
Disciplina	392.1/2/0942
Soggetti	Birth customs - England - History Childbirth - England - History Human reproduction - England - History Human body - Social aspects - England Human body - Symbolic aspects - England Manners & Customs Gender Studies & Sexuality Gender & Ethnic Studies Anthropology Social Sciences Birth customs - History - England Childbirth - History - England Human reproduction - History - England Women History, Modern 1601- Art Behavior Reproduction Health Pregnancy History, Early Modern 1451-1600 Culture Anthropology, Cultural Persons Humanities History Population Characteristics Behavior and Behavior Mechanisms Reproductive Physiological Processes Reproductive Physiological Phenomena

Psychiatry and Psychology
Named Groups
Health Care
History, 16th Century
Parturition
Women's Health
Reproductive Behavior
Pregnant Women
Human Body
History, 17th Century
Reproductive and Urinary Physiological Phenomena
Phenomena and Processes
Anthropology, Education, Sociology and Social Phenomena
Electronic books
Great Britain History
Great Britain Politics and government
England Social life and customs

Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Bibliographic Level Mode of Issuance: Monograph
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [250]-276) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction -- Reforming the body -- The womb goes bad -- Protesting and preaching -- Henry Jessey, Sarah Wight, and the struggle to make women's bodies into knowledge -- Culpeper's radical book -- Reforming the family and refiguring the body in the English Revolution -- The Restoration crisis in paternity.