

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910458659903321
Autore	Yalden Max
Titolo	Transforming rights : reflections from the front lines / / Maxwell Yalden
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Toronto, Ontario ; ; Buffalo, [New York] ; ; London, [England] : , : University of Toronto Press, , 2009 ©2009
ISBN	1-4426-7016-9 1-4426-9798-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (280 p.)
Disciplina	323.0971
Soggetti	Human rights - Canada Language policy - Canada Electronic books. Canada Languages Law and legislation
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Frontmatter -- Contents -- Preface -- Acknowledgments -- PART ONE: INTRODUCTION -- 1. Personal File -- 2. School, University, Graduate Studies -- 3. A Public Service Career -- PART TWO: LANGUAGE RIGHTS -- 1. The Background to Language Reform -- 2. The Origins of the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism -- 3. The Royal Commission Recommendations and Government Reactions -- 4. Summary of Commission Proposals and Government Reactions -- PART THREE: HUMAN RIGHTS -- 1. Introduction -- 2. The Universality of Human Rights Norms -- 3. Perspectives on Human Rights -- 4. The Canadian Experience -- 5. Discrimination -- 6. Multiculturalism -- 7. Employment Equity -- 8. Pay Equity -- 9. Aboriginal Rights -- PART FOUR: HUMAN RIGHTS AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS -- 1. International Human Rights Machinery -- 2. The High Commissioner for Human Rights -- 3. Regional Human Rights Machinery -- 4. The Human Rights Covenants and the Treaty Bodies -- 5. Canada and International Human Rights Machinery -- 6. Canada and Human Rights Violations -- PART FIVE: SUMMING UP AND CONCLUSIONS -- 1. Language Rights -- 2. Human Rights -- Appendix: Official Languages

Sommario/riassunto

Maxwell Yalden began his career in the Department of External Affairs; he was posted to Moscow and Paris, and later as ambassador to Belgium. As Canada's Language Commissioner from 1977-1984, he worked to reinforce the Official Languages Act, and language equality, encouraging Canadians to become more inclusive in their attitudes towards both official languages. Chief Commissioner of the Canadian Human Rights Commission from 1987-1996, he also served for eight years as a member of the United Nations Human Rights Committee. Transforming Rights draws on Yalden's extensive experience in rights work to provide a personal assessment of how issues of human rights and language rights have evolved over the past forty years, both within Canada and internationally. Transforming Rights contends that Canadian rights principles reflect a unique history and character and examines the interplay of historical and contemporary Canadian standards with comparable international norms. Yalden argues that Canada's rights achievements demonstrate that though it may not be possible to change beliefs and attitudes through policy and legislation, it is certainly possible to change behaviour - facilitating the expansion of rights. Authoritative and anecdotal, Yalden offers an informed insider's opinion on continuously evolving human rights norms and the impact they have had on the way that people live their lives.
