

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910458845203321
Autore	Barlow Jeffrey G. <1946->
Titolo	From hot war to cold [[electronic resource]] : the U.S. Navy and national security affairs, 1945-1955 // Jeffrey G. Barlow
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Stanford, Calif., : Stanford University Press, c2009
ISBN	0-8047-7096-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (1468 p.)
Disciplina	359/.03097309044
Soggetti	National security - United States - History - 20th century Interservice rivalry (Armed Forces) - United States - History Sea-power - United States - History - 20th century Electronic books. United States Military policy Decision making United States History, Naval 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [417]-682) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Wartime organizational changes in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations -- Initial challenges : postwar and demobilization planning -- The Navy and unification -- The National Security Act achieved -- Preparing for a new enemy -- War ends in the Pacific -- Troubles emerge in postwar China, 1945-1946 -- Assessing and responding to the Soviet naval threat -- Adjusting to the National Military Establishment -- Living in "interesting times" -- Slugging it out on Capitol Hill -- Events in the western Pacific -- Troubles on the Korean Peninsula -- Deciding to fight -- Defending NATO Europe : planning during the initial stages -- The Eisenhower national security structure -- Rethinking national strategy -- Coping with the new look -- A crisis abroad and a CNO's departure.
Sommario/riassunto	This book discusses the role of the U.S. Navy within the country's national security structure during the first decade of the Cold War from the perspective of the service's senior uniformed officer, the Chief of Naval Operations, and his staff. It examines a variety of important issues of the period, including the Army-Navy fight over unification that led to the creation of the National Security Act of 1947, the early postwar fighting in China between the Nationalists and the Communists, the formation of NATO, the outbreak of the Korean War, the decision of the Eisenhower Administration not to intervene in the Viet Minh troops' siege of the French garrison at Dien Bien Phu, and the initiation of the Eisenhower "New Look" defense policy. The author relies upon information obtained from a wide range of primary sources and personal interviews with important, senior Navy and Army officers. The result is a book that provides the reader with a new way of looking at these pivotal events.
