

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910459071203321
Autore	Hadiz Vedi R. <1964->
Titolo	Localising power in post-authoritarian Indonesia [[electronic resource]] : a Southeast Asia perspective // Vedi R. Hadiz
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Stanford, Calif., : Stanford University Press, c2010
ISBN	0-8047-7352-1
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (266 p.)
Collana	Contemporary issues in Asia and the Pacific
Disciplina	320.809598
Soggetti	Local government - Indonesia Decentralization in government - Indonesia Power (Social sciences) - Indonesia Elite (Social sciences) - Indonesia Electronic books. Indonesia Politics and government 1998-
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Front matter -- Contents -- Acknowledgments -- Introduction. Localisation and Globalisation -- Chapter One. Decentralisation, Development and Democracy Theoretical Issues and Debates -- Chapter Two. The Post-Authoritarian Context -- Chapter Three. The Localisation of Power and Institutional Change -- Chapter Four. A Political Sociology of Local Elites -- Chapter Five. Money Politics and Thuggery in New Local Democracies -- Chapter Six. The Politics of Inclusion and Exclusion -- Conclusion -- Notes -- Bibliography -- Index
Sommario/riassunto	This book is about how the design of institutional change results in unintended consequences. Many post-authoritarian societies have adopted decentralization—effectively localizing power—as part and parcel of democratization, but also in their efforts to entrench "good governance." Vedi Hadiz shifts the attention to the accompanying tensions and contradictions that define the terms under which the localization of power actually takes place. In the process, he develops a compelling analysis that ties social and institutional change to the outcomes of social conflict in local arenas of power. Using the case of Indonesia, and comparing it with Thailand and the Philippines, Hadiz seeks to understand the seeming puzzle of how local predatory systems of power remain resilient in the face of international and domestic pressures. Forcefully persuasive and characteristically passionate, Hadiz challenges readers while arguing convincingly that local power and politics still matter greatly in our globalized world.
