

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910459216303321
Titolo	China-Africa development relations // edited by Christopher M. Dent
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London : , : Routledge, , 2011
ISBN	1-136-92427-2 1-136-92428-0 1-282-78111-1 9786612781117 0-203-84502-1
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (205 p.)
Collana	Routledge contemporary China series ; ; 55
Altri autori (Persone)	DentChristopher M. <1965->
Disciplina	327.5106 337.5106
Soggetti	International relations Economics Electronic books. China Foreign economic relations Africa Africa Foreign economic relations China China Economic policy Africa Economic policy
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Book Cover; Title; Copyright; Contents; Tables and Figures; Contributors; Acknowledgement; Preface; Part I: China, Africa and international development; 1 Africa and China: A new kind of development partnership; 2 China-Africa relations and the European Union: Ideology, conditionality, realpolitik and what is new in South-South co-operation; 3 China and the geo-political imagination of African 'development'; 4 Chinese soft power, insecurity studies, myopia and fantasy; Part II: Country case study perspectives; 5 The end of abstraction: China's development relations with Sudan 6 Chinese development co-operation and Africa: The case of Tembisa's Friendship TownPart III: Resource sector perspectives; 7 China's structural demand and commodity prices: Implications for Africa; 8

China's energy diplomacy in Africa: The convergence of national and corporate interests; Part IV: Conclusion: China, Africa and development relations; 9 China, Africa and conceptualising development relations; Index

Sommario/riassunto

China is among a number of large developing country or new powers on the ascendance in the international system, all of which are deepening their economic relations with Africa. However, China is the largest and most powerful of this group. It has sought closer economic relationships with other developing country regions and continents such as Latin America and Central Asia, but it is with Africa - the continent that hosts more developing countries than any other - that China has fostered the closest links. This book provides an overview of how the China - Africa relationship has evolved.
