

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910459723003321
Autore	Beal Joan C
Titolo	An introduction to regional Englishes [[electronic resource]] : dialect variation in England / / Joan C. Beal
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Edinburgh, : Edinburgh University Press, 2010
ISBN	1-283-02105-6 9786613021052 0-7486-2937-8
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (135 p.)
Collana	Edinburgh textbooks on the English language
Disciplina	427
Soggetti	English language - Dialects - Great Britain Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. 108-117) and index.
Nota di contenuto	""Contents""; ""Figures and tables""; ""Acknowledgements""; ""Abbreviations""; ""1 Introduction""; ""2 Accent variation in England""; ""3 Dialect variation in England: morphology and syntax""; ""4 Dialect variation in England: lexis""; ""5 Levelling and diffusion""; ""6 Variation and identity""; ""References""; ""Index""
Sommario/riassunto	Are the dialects of England disappearing in the wake of globalisation and 'Estuary English', or are geographical differences as strong as ever? Joan Beal looks at recent research into regional variation in England, discusses the evidence for 'dialect levelling' and argues that, despite this, features of dialect are still clear markers of regional and local identity. Chapters outlining the main regional differences in accent, dialect grammar and dialect vocabulary are followed by discussions of research into geographical diffusion, levelling, issues of identity and stereotypes. Each chapter is