

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910460246703321
Autore	Lee Jin-kyung
Titolo	Service economies [[electronic resource]] : militarism, sex work, and migrant labor in South Korea // Jin-kyung Lee
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Minneapolis, : University of Minnesota Press, c2010
ISBN	0-8166-7518-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (316 p.)
Disciplina	363.4/4095195
Soggetti	Militarism - Korea (South) Service industries - Korea (South) Sex-oriented businesses - Korea (South) Electronic books. Korea (South) Economic policy Korea (South) Foreign relations United States United States Foreign relations Korea (South)
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction : proletarianizing sexuality and race -- Surrogate military, subempire, and masculinity : South Korea in the Vietnam war -- Domestic prostitution : from necropolitics to prosthetic labor -- Military prostitution : gynocentrism, racial hybridity, and diaspora -- Migrant and immigrant labor : redefining Korean identity -- Postscript : the exceptional and the normative in South Korean modernization.
Sommario/riassunto	Service Economies presents an alternative narrative of South Korean modernity by examining how working-class labor occupies a central space in linking the United States and Asia to South Korea's changing global position from a U.S. neocolony to a subempire. Making surprising and revelatory connections, Jin-kyung Lee analyzes South Korean military labor in the Vietnam War, domestic female sex workers, South Korean prostitution for U.S. troops, and immigrant/migrant labor from Asia in contemporary South Korea. Foregrounding gender, sexuality, and race, Lee reimagines the South Korean economic ""