

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910461867103321
Titolo	The third force [[electronic resource]] : the rise of transnational civil society // Ann M. Florini, editor
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Tokyo, : Japan Center for International Exchange Washington, D.C., : Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, : Brookings Institution Press [distributor], c2000
ISBN	0-87003-179-1 1-283-85528-3 0-87003-305-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (305 p.)
Altri autori (Persone)	FloriniAnn
Disciplina	322.4
Soggetti	Civil society Globalization Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Front Cover; Title Page; Copyright Information; Table of Contents; Foreword; Acknowledgments; What the World Needs Now?; A Global Network to Curb Corruption: The Experience of Transparency International; Advocates and Activists: Conflicting Approaches on Nonproliferation and the Test Ban Treaty; Toward Democratic Governance for Sustainable Development: Transnational Civic Society Organizing Around Big Dams; Transnational Networks and Campaigns for Democracy; Building Partnerships toward a Common Goal: Experiences of the International Campaign to Ban Landmines The Power of Norms versus the Norms of Power: Transnational Civic Society and Human Rights Lessons Learned; Annotated Bibliography; Index; Contributors; Back Cover
Sommario/riassunto	From the landmines campaign to the Seattle protests against the WTO to the World Commission on Dams, transnational networks of civil society groups are seizing an ever-greater voice in how governments run countries and how corporations do business. This volume brings together a multinational group of authors to help policy makers, scholars, business people, and activists themselves understand the profound issues raised. Contributors include Fredrik Galtung, Rebecca Johnson, Sanjeev Khagram, Chetan Kumar, Motoko Mekata, Thomas Risse, P.J. Simmons, and Yahya Dehqanzada.
