

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910462276503321
Autore	Rowse Tim <1951->
Titolo	Rethinking social justice : from 'peoples' to 'populations' // Tim Rowse
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Canberra, Australia : , : Aboriginal Studies Press, , 2012 ©2012
ISBN	1-922059-17-X
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (273 p.)
Collana	Aboriginal Studies Press
Disciplina	994.230049915
Soggetti	Aboriginal Australians - Cultural assimilation Aboriginal Australians - Social conditions Social justice - Australia Reparations for historical injustices - Australia Electronic books. Australia Government policy
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Cover; About the Author; Copyright; Contents; Foreword; Acronyms & Abbreviations; Introduction; Part I - Recognising 'populations' and 'peoples'; 1. Recognising 'peoples' and 'populations'; Part II - Evoking people-hood; 2. Hasluck and Elkin; 3. Strehlow damns Coombs; 4. The South Australian land rights debate of 1966; 5. The politics of enumerating the Stolen Generations; Part III - Critical reflections on political capacity; 6. The changing cultural constitution of the Indigenous sector; 7. The ambivalence of Helen Hughes; Part IV - Thinking historically about 1967-76 8. Noel Pearson's economic history 9. Peter Sutton and the historical roots of suffering; 10. The Coombs experiment; Part V - The appeal of quantification; 11. The Australian Reconciliation Barometer; Notes; References; Index
Sommario/riassunto	In the early 1970's, Australian governments began to treat Aborigines and Torres Strait Islanders as ""peoples"" with capacities for self-government. Forty years later, confidence in Indigenous self-determination has been eroded by accounts of Indigenous pathology, misplaced policy optimism, and persistent socio-economic gaps. This record accounts for this shift by arguing that Australian thinking about the Indigenous is a continuing, unresolvable tussle between the ideas of "peoples" and "population." Offering snapshots of moments in the last 40 years in these tensions are palpable - from...
