Sommario/riassunto	Quality clinical supervision for counselling, psychotherapy and other mental health and related disciplines is the result of strategic planning by counsellors, administrators and supervisors working in partnership. This book is a state-of-the-art summary of where supervision is today and what are some of the crucial themes that supervisors need to consider. It is cross-professional in scope and is relevant for counsellors, psychotherapists, psychologists, social workers, and life and business coaches.
