Record Nr. UNINA9910462555703321 Autore Post Margaret A Titolo Grassroots coalitions and state policy change [[electronic resource]]: organizing for immigrant health care // Margaret A. Post El Paso [Tex.], : LFB Scholarly Pub., 2011 Pubbl/distr/stampa ISBN 1-59332-665-3 Descrizione fisica 1 online resource (234 p.) Collana The new Americans: recent immigration and American society 362.1086/912 Disciplina Soggetti Immigrants - Medical care - Massachusetts Immigrants - Medical care - California Health services accessibility - Massachusetts Health services accessibility - California Pressure groups - Massachusetts Pressure groups - California Electronic books. Lingua di pubblicazione Inglese Formato Materiale a stampa Livello bibliografico Monografia Description based upon print version of record. Note generali Nota di bibliografia Includes bibliographical references and index. CONTENTS; List of Tables; Preface; Acknowledgements; 1. Introduction; Nota di contenuto 2. Organizational Pathways to Political Incorporation: The Role of Coalitions; 3. Immigrant Political Power: Claims-making Coalitions and Policy Outcomes; 4. Research Design for Theory and Practice; 5. Massachusetts and California: 2004-2007; 6. Organizational Analysis: Process and Outcomes; 7, Immigrant Organizations and Policy Change: The Future Role of Coalitions; Appendix 1: Sample Interview Protocols; Appendix 2: Coalition Member Lists: Appendix 3: Profiles of Featured Organizations Appendix 4: Sample Coalition AgreementsReferences; Index Sommario/riassunto Post examines how coalitions build power in the policymaking arena. She focuses on interorganizational partnerships, internal capacity building, and claims-making, and shows that multi-organizational alliances can be intermediary mechanisms for promoting interests and realizing political gains. With case studies from Massachusetts and California between 2004 and 2007, Post investigates how statewide, health policy coalitions incorporate immigrant interests in organizing strategies for policy change. The analysis supports a theoretical framework of how mediating institutions can facilitate the