

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910462749503321
Titolo	City cycling [[electronic resource] /] / edited by John Pucher and Ralph Buehler
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cambridge, Mass., : MIT Press, 2012
ISBN	1-283-69198-1 0-262-30591-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (413 p.)
Collana	Urban and industrial environments
Altri autori (Persone)	PucherJohn R BuehlerRalph
Disciplina	796.6
Soggetti	Cycling City traffic Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Urban and Industrial Environments Series; Contents; Contributors; Preface and Acknowledgments; 1 Introduction: Cycling for Sustainable Transportation; 2 International Overview: Cycling Trends in Western Europe, North America, and Australia; 3 Health Benefits of Cycling; 4 Effective Speed: Cycling Because It's "Faster"; 5 Developments in Bicycle Equipment and Its Role in Promoting Cycling as a Travel Mode; 6 Bicycling Infrastructure for Mass Cycling: A Transatlantic Comparison; 7 Cycling Safety; 8 Integration of Cycling with Public Transportation; 9 Bikesharing across the Globe 10 Women and Cycling11 Children and Cycling; 12 Cycling in Small Cities; 13 Big City Cycling in Europe, North America, and Australia; 14 Cycling in Megacities: London, Paris, New York, and Tokyo; 15 Promoting Cycling for Daily Travel: Conclusions and Lessons from across the Globe; Urban and Industrial Environments Series List; Index
Sommario/riassunto	A guide to today's urban cycling renaissance, with information on cycling's health benefits, safety, bikes and bike equipment, bike lanes, bike sharing, and other topics.