

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910462823703321
Autore	Trachtman Joel P.
Titolo	The future of international law : global government // Joel P. Trachtman, Tufts University, The Fletcher School [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cambridge : , : Cambridge University Press, , 2013
ISBN	1-139-61131-3 1-107-23849-8 1-139-60444-9 1-139-60945-9 1-139-61317-0 1-139-56558-3 1-139-62619-1 1-139-61689-7
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xiii, 302 pages) : digital, PDF file(s)
Collana	ASIL studies in international legal theory
Disciplina	341
Soggetti	International law International organization
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Title from publisher's bibliographic system (viewed on 05 Oct 2015).
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Introduction : the crisis in international law -- Reasons for international law and organization -- International law and organization as a system for transnational political linkage -- The futurology of international law -- Cyberspace and cybersecurity -- Human rights -- Environmental protection and public health -- Global regulation of finance -- Economic liberalization : trade, intellectual property, migration, and investment -- Fragmentation, synergy, coherence, and institutional choice -- International legal constitutionalization -- Conclusion functionalism revisited.
Sommario/riassunto	The world is changing rapidly and there are increasing calls for international and legal responses. Social changes in areas such as globalization, development, demography, democratization and technology are growing in importance for both citizens and states. Over time this will be reflected in international law and organizational structures, which will have more prominence in governmental functions. In this sense the future of international law is global government. This book draws together the theoretical and practical aspects of international cooperation needs and legal responses in critical areas of global concern and predicts that a more extensive, powerful and varied international legal system will be needed to cope with future opportunities and challenges.
