

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910463909903321
Titolo	National service and volunteerism : achieving impact in our communities // edited by Thomas A. Bryer
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Lanham : , : Lexington Books, , [2015] ©2015
ISBN	0-7391-9695-2 0-7391-9694-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (294 p.)
Disciplina	361.3/7
Soggetti	National service Voluntarism National service - United States Voluntarism - United States Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Preface; Acknowledgments; Part I: Partnerships for Service and Volunteerism; 1 Key Drivers of Successful Implementation of Mayor-led Impact Volunteering Strategies in American Cities; 2 Three Sectors and a University; 3 Connecting With the Community in an Applied Sociology Class; 4 The Meaning of Volunteerism to Older Adult RSVP Volunteers; 5 Managing Risk while Managing Volunteers; Part II: Youth Volunteer Impact; 6 Investing in Engagement; 7 Investing In Civic Health; 8 VolunteerUCF; Part III: Volunteer Impact on Social and Economic Issues; 9 HBI Mentoring 10 Social Capital and Human Capital Assets 11 Community Engagement as a Predictor of Higher Education Matriculation; 12 City Year History, Model, and Impact; 13 Digital Humanitarianism in Global Disaster Response; Part IV: International Perspectives; 14 It Takes Two to Tango; 15 Servicio Pais; 16 The Big Society; 17 Volunteerism in Post-Communist Countries; V: Conclusion; 18 Achieving Impact through Volunteerism; Appendix A: Additional Examples of Cities of Service Initiatives; Appendix B: Required and Recommended Reading Material

for Tampa PhotoVoice Project

Appendix C: Media Advisory for PhotoVoice ProjectReferences; Index;
About the Editor and Contributors

Sommario/riassunto

This book offers a review of cases, data, and literature addressing the impact of national service programs and volunteerism in and across communities. The chapters, written by diverse authors, are structured to appeal to students and practitioners of policy, government, and nonprofit studies.
