

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910464365703321
Autore	Spencer Herbert
Titolo	Essays on Education and Kindred Subjects [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Auckland, : The Floating Press, 1911
ISBN	1-77556-743-5
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (648 p.)
Disciplina	081 370
Soggetti	Education -- Philosophy Education Philosophy Spencer, Herbert -- Philosophy Spencer, Herbert Social Sciences History of Education Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Title; Contents; Herbert Spencer; Introduction; Education: Intellectual, Moral, and Physical; PART I ON EDUCATION; What Knowledge is of Most Worth?; Intellectual Education; Moral Education; Physical Education; PART II ESSAYS ON KINDRED SUBJECTS; Progress: Its Law and Cause; On Manners and Fashion; On the Genesis of Science; On the Physiology of Laughter; On the Origin and Function of Music; Endnotes
Sommario/riassunto	Herbert Spencer was an English philosopher, prominent classical liberal political theorist, and sociological theorist of the Victorian era. The four essays on education which Herbert Spencer published in a single volume in 1861 were all written and separately published between 1854 and 1859. Their tone was aggressive and their proposals revolutionary; although all the doctrines - with one important exception - had already been vigorously preached by earlier writers on education...

