

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910465141303321
Autore	Duffield Mark
Titolo	Global governance and the new wars : the merging of development and security // Mark Duffield ; with a foreword by Antonio Donini
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London : , : Zed Books, , 2014
ISBN	1-78032-982-2 1-78032-981-4
Edizione	[2nd ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (319 p.)
Collana	critique influence change
Disciplina	327.17
Soggetti	War - Economic aspects - Developing countries National security - Developing countries Globalization Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Front cover; critique influence change; About the author; Title; Copyright; Dedication; Contents; Acknowledgements; List of abbreviations; Foreword; Preface to the critique influence change edition; 1. Introduction: The New Development-Security Terrain; From a capitalist to a liberal world system; The ambivalence of Southern exclusion; The internationalisation of public policy; Liberal peace; The new wars; The merging of development and security; The organisation of this book; Notes; 2. The Merging of Development and Security; The demise of alternatives to liberal governance From inclusion to underdevelopment becoming dangerous New imperialism or liberal peace?; The reproblematisation of security; The radicalisation of development; Concluding remarks; Note; 3. Strategic Complexes and Global Governance; The qualification of nation-state competence; Liberal strategic complexes; Non-governmental organisations; Military establishments; The commercial sector; Multilateral and regional organisations; Donor governments; Consensus and governance networks; Notes; 4. The New Humanitarianism; Requiem for the prophets; From cosmic machines to living systems The politicisation of development discourse The demise of operational neutrality; The rise of consequentialist ethics; Ethics and humanitarian conditionality; Politics as policy; Linking relief and development as a governance relation; Deepening the relations of liberal governance; Concluding remarks; Note; 5. Global Governance and the Causes of Conflict; New barbarism and biocultural determination; Underdevelopment as dangerous; Conflict and the reinvention of development; Poverty and conflict; The poor as allies of liberal peace; The delegitimation of leadership; Notes

6. The Growth of Transborder Shadow Economies Social regression or social transformation?; The limits of the formal economy; Non-formal economies; A complex transborder shadow economy: the coffee trade across Sudan's war zone; Non-liberal characteristics of non-formal economies; Revisiting underdevelopment as dangerous; Notes; 7. Non-Liberal Political Complexes and the New Wars; Complex political emergencies or emerging political complexes?; From nation states to multiple authorities; The privatisation of protection; Protection and authority among state incumbents; The new wars as network war Note

8. Internal Displacement and the New Humanitarianism: Displacement and Complicity in Sudan (Part 1); A note on the political economy of Northern Sudan; Development discourse and internal displacement; Wealth ranking and natural economy; De-ethnicisation and self-management; Internal displacement as economic migration; Rights-based development and consequentialist ethics; Protection and self-management; Minimum operational standards and complexity; Notes; 9. Aid and Social Subjugation: Displacement and Complicity in Sudan (Part 2); Advantages to dominant networks
Cheap and desocialised labour

Sommario/riassunto

In this hugely influential book, originally published in 2001 but just as - if not more - relevant today, Mark Duffield shows how war has become an integral component of development discourse. Aid agencies have become increasingly involved in humanitarian assistance, conflict resolution and the social reconstruction of war-torn societies. Duffield explores the consequences of this growing merger of development and security.

2. Record Nr.	UNINA9910633953603321
Autore	Wilks Stephen
Titolo	'Now is the psychological moment' : Earle Page and the imagining of Australia // Stephen Wilks
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Canberra, ACT, Australia : , : Australian National University Press, , 2022
ISBN	1-76046-368-X
Edizione	[First edition.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (xx, 391 pages)
Disciplina	306.0994
Soggetti	Australia Social conditions
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Sommario/riassunto	Earle Christmas Grafton Page (1880-1961) - surgeon, Country Party leader, treasurer and prime minister - was perhaps the most extraordinary visionary to hold high public office in twentieth-century Australia. Over decades, he made determined efforts to seize 'the psychological moment', and thereby realise his vision of a decentralised, regionalised and rationally ordered nation. Page's unique dreaming of a very different Australia encompassed new states, hydroelectricity, economic planning, cooperative federalism and rural universities. His story casts light on the wider place in history of visions of national development. He was Australia's most important advocate of developmentalism, the important yet little-studied stream of thought that assumes that governments can lead the nation to realise its economic potential. His audacious synthesis of ideas delineated and stretched the Australian political imagination. Page's rich career confirms that Australia has long inspired popular ideals of national development, but also suggests that their practical implementation was increasingly challenged during the twentieth century. Effervescent, intelligent and somewhat eccentric, Page was one of Australia's great optimists. Few Australian leaders who stood for so much have since been so neglected.