

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910465298503321
Autore	Brettschneider Marla
Titolo	Democratic theorizing from the margins [[electronic resource] /] / Marla Brettschneider
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Philadelphia, PA, : Temple University Press, c2002
ISBN	1-283-13389-X 9786613133892 1-4399-0773-0
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (270 p.)
Disciplina	306.2/0973
Soggetti	Democracy - United States Marginality, Social - United States Minorities - Political activity - United States Political science Women - Political activity - United States Electronic books.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
Nota di contenuto	Contents; Acknowledgments; Chapter 1: Introduction; Chapter 2: When: History; Chapter 3: Who: Identity; Chapter 4: What: Recognition; Chapter 5: Why: Rethinking Universals and Particulars; Chapter 6: Where: Multiple Publics; Chapter 7: How: Minoritizing and Majoritizing; Notes; References; Index
Sommario/riassunto	Democratic Theorizing from the Margins lays out the basic parameters of diversity-based politics as a still emerging form of democratic theory. Students, activists, and scholars engage in diversity politics on the ground, but generally remain unable to conceptualize a broad understanding of how "politics from the margins"-that is, political thinking and action that comes from groups often left on the outside of mainstream organizing and action-operates effectively in different contexts and environments. Brettschneider offers concrete lessons from many movements to see what they tell us