1.	Record Nr.	UNINA9910483058003321
	Titolo	Policing in an age of reform : an agenda for research and practice / / edited by James J. Nolan, Frank Crispino, Timothy Parsons
	Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cham, Switzerland : , : Palgrave Macmillan, , [2021] Â©2021
	ISBN	3-030-56765-6
	Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (279 pages)
	Collana	Palgrave's Critical Policing Studies, , 2730-535X
	Disciplina	363.2068
	Soggetti	Police administration Police misconduct
	Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
	Formato	Materiale a stampa
	Livello bibliografico	Monografia
	Note generali	Includes index.
	Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references and index.
	Nota di contenuto	Chapter 1. Introduction to Policing in an Age of Reform -- Chapter 2. Changing the Game: A Sociological Perspective on Police Reform -- Chapter 3. Community Policing: Often Advocated, Rarely Practiced -- Chapter 4. A Global Overview of Policing in an Age of Reform -- Chapter 5. Community Dynamics, Collective Efficacy, and Police Reform -- Chapter 6. Policing Hate Crime: Dilemmas in Policy and Practice -- Chapter 7. Police Responses to Islamic Radicalisation and Violent Extremisms -- Chapter 8. Forensic Science Understanding by Police Managers: New Opportunities to Re-think Its Involvement in Policing -- Chapter 9. Managing Police Performance -- Chapter 10. Cooperation Between Police and Civil Society -- Chapter 11. Digital Transformation if Forensic Science and Intelligence -- Chapter 12. Tools for a New Situational Policing -- Chapter 13. Heaven or Hell: Social Media for Intelligence -- Chapter 14. Doing Right: Police Ethics in an Age of Reform -- Chapter 15. The Allegory of the Dangerous Intersection: A Structural View of Law Enforcement and Social Problems -- Chapter 16. Conclusions and Future Directions in Policing.
	Sommario/riassunto	This book tackles the contentious issue of policing in an age of controversy and uncertainty. It is a timely book written by police scholars — predominantly former practitioners from Europe, Australia and North America — who draw from their own research and operational experiences to illuminate key issues relating to police reform in the present day. While acknowledging some relevance of usual proposed models, such as problem-solving, evidence-based policing and procedural justice, the contributors provide an insider look at a variety of perspectives and approaches to police reform which have emerged in recent decades. It invites university students, criminologists, social scientists, police managers, forensic scientists to question and adapt their perspectives on a broad range of topics such as community policing, hate crime, Islamic radicalisation, neighborhood dynamics, situational policing, antidiscrimination and civil society, police ethics, performance measures, and advances in forensic science, technology, intelligence and more in an accessible and comprehensive manner. James Nolan is Professor and Chair of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at West Virginia University, USA. His recent research focuses on neighborhood dynamics and policing. Frank Crispino is Director of the Forensic Science Research Group at the Université du Québec à Trois-Rivières, Canada, and regular researcher of the International Center for Comparative Criminology. Timothy Parsons is Visiting Lecturer in Police Studies at Liverpool John Moores University, UK. He served 30 years with the City of London Police and has lectured on the topics of policing, police reform, Islamism and violent extremism in 25 countries advising both police forces and national governments.