Sommario/riassunto	Within Childhood Research starkly different theoretical and empirical concerns characterize the global south-north divide. Hia Sen attempts to bridge the gap in Childhood Research which usually addresses childhoods differently according to their 'developing/developed', 'western/non-western' contexts, and finds its middle ground in the context of the urban middle classes in contemporary West Bengal. The author documents areas such as leisure practices and everyday lives of school children in India for three cohorts, where it is possible to have a comparative perspective of childhoods given the existing rich ethnographic and historical research on childhoods in other cultural contexts. Contents · Childhoods and Social Inequalities  · Sentiment, Middle Classes, and a Culture of Childhood in Bengal  · Talking to Children, and Talking about Childhoods · The Bhadrakok Culture and the Ethos of Education in Bengal · Leisure Culture and Space · Class, Gender, and Generation in Children's Culture  Die Zielgruppen · Researchers, students, and practitioners in the fields of childhood sociology, sociology of social
