Sommario/riassunto	Le Roman de Perceforest est l'un des derniers récits arthuriens du Moyen Âge et certainement le plus long roman de la langue française. On y trouve aussi bien l'une des plus anciennes versions de la Belle au Bois dormant, que des tournois, des joutes, des vols diaboliques et un sabbat, ainsi que des histoires d'amours tumultueuses et des merveilles étonnantes comme le luiton Zéphir. En cours d'édition par Gilles Roussineau, ce roman-fleuve est actuellement l'objet d'une réévaluation. Le présent volume dresse à la fois le bilan des recherches contemporaines, propose des avancées et de nouvelles perspectives et ouvre des champs d'investigation prometteurs. La première partie aborde le problème des sources (écrites, folkloriques, romanesques, encyclopédiques...) et celui de la datation et de la tradition manuscrite de l'œuvre. La seconde met en évidence la cohérence thématique du roman, autour de l'amour et des pratiques chevaleresques (fêtes, héraldique), l'habileté de son écriture, dont témoignent l'art des discours et la mise en scène des paysages, et sa construction savante, qu'organisent la généalogie, les enjeux herméneutiques et l'usage de l'entrelacement. Loin d'être un « fatras à quoi l'enfance s'amuse » (pour reprendre l'expression de Montaigne), Perceforest est une œuvre concertée, complexe, foisonnante. On comprend dès lors la richesse de sa réception, étudiée dans la troisième partie, autour des diverses copies qui en ont été faites, des imprimés du XVIe siècle, ou de sa reprise dans la Bibliothèque universelle des romans, sans oublier son influence sur la littérature renaissante, et sa traduction, aussi bien dans le Parsaforesto italien du XVIe siècle, qu'en français moderne.

Sommario/riassunto	In this book, Cecilea Mun introduces an innovative meta-framework for conducting interdisciplinary research in the science of emotion, broadly construed, as well as a framework for a particular kind of theory of emotion. She provides new solutions and arguments in support of an embodied cognitive approach to resolving a wide range of problems, including those concerning skepticism, the place of ordinary intuitions for the science of emotion, intentionality, the rationality of emotions, naturalizing knowledge, and the debate between philosophical cognitive and noncognitive theories of emotion. Her solutions include a revolutionary, unifying, interdisciplinary taxonomy of theories of emotion, which allows one to understand the discourse in the science of emotion as a debate between four fundamental types of theories: realism, instrumentalism, eliminativism, and eliminative-realism. Her original proposal for a conception of intentionality that makes sense of our ordinary intuitions is also combined with her comprehensive account of rationality to articulate a groundbreaking understanding of the structure of human rationality. All of the contributions made herein, together, provide the foundations for a profound understanding of emotions, including as a kind of embodied language. Cecilea Mun is a disabled, Korean-American philosopher. She is the founding director of the Society for Philosophy of Emotion, and the founding editor-in-chief of the Journal of Philosophy of Emotion.
