

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910496032403321
Autore	Ando Clifford <1969->
Titolo	Legal engagement : The reception of Roman law and tribunals by Jews and other inhabitants of the Empire // Katell Berthelot, Natalie B. Dohrmann, Capucine Nemo-Pekelman
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Rome : , : Publications de l'École française de Rome, , 2020
ISBN	2-7283-1465-9
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (544 pages)
Collana	Collection de l'École française de Rome.
Altri autori (Persone)	BerthelotKatell Blanco PerezAitor <1987-> BryenAri Z CzajkowskiKimberley <1987-> DohrmannNatalie B DohrmannNatalie B DuboulozJulien FournierJulien <1978-> FowlerKimberley FurstenbergYair HayesChristine HezserCatherine <1960-> KerneisSoazick LapinHayim LévyCarlos MalkaOrit NaiweldRon Nemo-PekelmanCapucine <1973-> PazYakir RouxMarie TuoriKaius WilfandYael
Soggetti	Classics History Law droit romain droit juifs religion Roman law Jewish law

Conference papers and proceedings.

History

Rome Politics and government 30 B.C.-476 A.D Congresses

Rome History Empire, 30 B.C.-476 A.D Congresses

Rome (Empire)

Lingua di pubblicazione

Inglese

Formato

Materiale a stampa

Livello bibliografico

Monografia

Sommario/riassunto

The Roman empire set law at the center of its very identity. A complex and robust ideology of law and justice is evident not only in the dynamics of imperial administration, but a host of cultural arenas. Citizenship named the privilege of falling under Roman jurisdiction, legal expertise was cultural capital. A faith in the emperor's intimate concern for justice was a key component of the voluntary connection binding Romans and provincials to the state. Even as law was a central mechanism for control and the administration of state violence, it also exerted a magnetic effect on the peoples under its control. Adopting a range of approaches, the essays explore the impact of Roman law, both in the tribunal and in the culture. Unique to this anthology is attention to legal professionals and cultural intermediaries operating at the empire's periphery. The studies here allow one to see how law operated among a range of populations and provincials—from Gauls and Brittons to Egyptians and Jews—exploring the ways local peoples creatively navigated, and constructed, their legal realities between Roman and local mores. They draw our attention to the space between laws and legal ideas, between ethnic, especially Jewish, life and law and the structures of Roman might; cases in which shared concepts result in diverse ends; the pageantry of the legal tribunal, the imperatives and corruptions of power differentials; and the importance of reading the gaps between depiction of law and its actual workings. This volume is unusual in bringing Jewish, and especially rabbinic, sources and perspectives together with Roman, Greek or Christian ones. This is the result of its being part of the research program "Judaism and Rome" (ERC Grant Agreement no. 614 424), dedicated to the study of the impact of the Roman empire upon ancient Judaism.

2. Record Nr.	UNISA996204156303316
Titolo	The family coordinator
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Minneapolis, Minn., : National Council on Family Relations, 1968-1979
ISSN	2325-5501
Disciplina	306.8/5/0973
Soggetti	Family life education - United States Families - United States Marriage - United States Poradnictwo rodzinne Czasopismo psychologiczne Families Family life education Marriage Periodicals. Stany Zjednoczone United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Periodico
Note generali	Title from title screen (viewed December 12, 2002).