

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910514196803321
Titolo	A horizon of (im)possibilities : a chronicle of Brazil's conservative turn / / edited by Katerina Hatzikidi and Eduardo Dullo
Pubbl/distr/stampa	London, 2021
ISBN	1-908857-92-7
Descrizione fisica	1 electronic resource (220 p.)
Disciplina	981.067
Soggetti	Politics & government Brazil Politics and government 2003- Brazil Social conditions 21st century Bresil Politique et gouvernement 2003- Brazil
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Sommario/riassunto	The 2018 presidential election result in Brazil surprised and shocked many. Since then, numerous debates and a growing body of texts have attempted to understand the country's so-called 'conservative turn'. A gripping in-depth account of politics and society in Brazil today, this new volume brings together a myriad of different perspectives to help us better understand the political events that shook the country in recent years. Combining ethnographic insights with political science, history, sociology, and anthropology, the interdisciplinary analyses included offer a panoramic view on social and political change in Brazil, spanning temporal and spatial dimensions. Starting with the 2018 presidential election, the contributors discuss the country's recent –or more distant– past in relation to the present. Pointing to the continuities and disruptions in the course of those years, the analyses offered are an invaluable guide to unpacking and understanding the limits of Brazilian democracy, including what has already come to pass, but also what is yet to come.