

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910541643103321
Autore	Flemming Thomas
Titolo	Berlin in the Cold War : the battle for the divided city // Thomas Flemming ; [translation, Penny Croucher]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	New York, New York : , : Berlinica Publishing, , 2010
ISBN	1-935902-97-0
Edizione	[First U.S. edition.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (91 p.)
Disciplina	943.155087
Soggetti	Electronic books. Berlin (Germany) History 1945-1990
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Front Cover; Title Page; Copyright; About the Author; Contents; Showdown at Checkpoint Charlie; Berlin on the Front Line; Allies become Enemies; The Four Sector City; First Conflicts; The Founding of Political Parties; The Last "United Berlin" Elections; Blockade and Airlift; Competing Currencies; "Candy Bombers" Against the Blockade; The "Senate Reserves" (Senatsreserve); The Divided City; The University as a Political Battlefield; Troops in Berlin; Cutting Off the West Sectors; Uprising Against the SED Regime; The Media; A Playground for Spies; The Espionage Tunnel
Sommario/riassunto	Vividly describing the conflict between the two superpowers-the U.S. and the Soviet Union-as it played out in Berlin, this book highlights the dramatic events that occurred in the divided city that was the frontier town, the spy post, and the battlefield. It was a time in Berlin that touched the whole world: the blockade, the airlift, the uprising of June 1953, the construction of the Wall, and the fall of the Iron Curtain. Stories of escape and espionage are included in this concise but detailed book which describes key points from 1945 up through the fall of the Berlin Wall.