Sommario/riassunto	Welcome to PLDI 2022, the 43rd ACM SIGPLAN Conference on Programming Language Design and Implementation to be held in San Diego (and online) June 13-17. PLDI is a premier forum for programming language research, broadly interpreted, including design, implementation, theory, applications, and performance. PLDI contains outstanding research that extends and/or applies programming language concepts to advance the field of computing. Novel system designs, thorough empirical work, well-motivated theoretical results, and new application areas are all welcome topics at PLDI.
