

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910585956203321
Autore	Beland Daniel
Titolo	Policy feedback : how policies shape politics / / Daniel Beland, Andrea Louise Campbell, R. Kent Weaver [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Cambridge University Press, 2022 Cambridge : , : Cambridge University Press, , 2022
ISBN	1-108-94617-8 1-108-94541-4 1-108-93891-4
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (92 pages) : digital, PDF file(s)
Collana	Cambridge elements. Elements in public policy, , 2398-4058
Disciplina	320.6
Soggetti	Policy sciences
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Title from publisher's bibliographic system (viewed on 13 Jun 2022).
Sommario/riassunto	Although the idea that existing policies can have major effects on politics and policy development is hardly new, the last three decades witnessed a major expansion of policy feedback scholarship, which focuses on the mechanisms through which existing policies shape politics and policy development. Starting with a discussion of the origins of the concept of policy feedback, this element explores early and more recent contributions of the policy feedback literature to clarify the meaning of this concept and its contribution to both political science and policy studies. After exploring the rapidly expanding scholarship on policy feedback and mass politics, this element also puts forward new research agendas that stress several ways forward, including the need to explain both institutional and policy continuity and change. Finally, the element discusses the practical implications of policy feedback research through a discussion of its potential impact on policy design. This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core.