

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910647392003321
Autore	Jakobs Philipp
Titolo	Max Weber and the sociology of organization [[electronic resource]] : Reflections on a concept of pre-modern organization // by Philipp Jakobs
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Wiesbaden : , : Springer Fachmedien Wiesbaden : , : Imprint : Springer, , 2022
ISBN	9783658402877 9783658402860
Edizione	[1st ed. 2022.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (88 pages)
Disciplina	302.35
Soggetti	Organizational sociology Occupations—Sociological aspects Political sociology Economic sociology Sociology Sociology—History Sociology of Organizations and Occupations Political Sociology Economic Sociology Sociological Theory History of Sociology
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references.
Nota di contenuto	Organization as a theory of modernity -- American neo-institutionalism -- Political economy of organization -- Systems theory -- History of concepts -- Max Weber and the sociology of organization -- On the reception of Max Weber in the sociology of organization -- "Bureaucracy" and "rational labor organization" as organizations -- "Bureaucratic rule" -- Rational labor organization -- On the concept of pre-modern organization -- Internal structure of organizations -- External relations of organizations -- Struggling organizations. .
Sommario/riassunto	In today's organizational sociology, organizations are usually regarded as late achievements of modernity in the history of mankind. Max Weber is repeatedly cited as the supposed guarantor of this thesis. But neither his type of "bureaucratic rule" nor his concept of "rational work organization" - although both are tailored to modern conditions - contain, on closer inspection, compelling arguments for a principled limitation of organizations as such to modernity. Both actually reach their depth of focus only in contrast to "pre-modern" forms of organization. A sociology of organization that wants to refer to Max Weber's work while avoiding the numerous common misunderstandings of its reception must broaden its historical view and consider the possibility of "pre-modern organizations". The author Philipp Jakobs is a research assistant at the Chair of Cultural Sociology at the University of Bonn, where he is doing his doctorate on economic organizations from a historical-sociological perspective. This book is a translation of an original German edition. The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence (machine translation by the service DeepL.com). A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content, so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation.
