

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910658211603321
Autore	Sloan Elinor C (Elinor Camille), <1965->
Titolo	The revolution in military affairs : implications for Canada and NATO // Elinor C. Sloan
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Montreal, : McGill-Queen's University Press, c2002
ISBN	1-282-86045-3 9786612860454 0-7735-7020-9
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (201 p.)
Collana	Foreign policy, security, and strategic studies
Disciplina	355/.0330049
Soggetti	Military art and science - Technological innovations - History - 20th century Security, International Art et science militaires - Innovations - Histoire - 20e siecle Securite internationale Canada Military policy Canada Politique militaire
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Published for the Centre for Security and Foreign Policy Studies and the Raoul-Dandurand Chair of Strategic and Diplomatic Studies.
Nota di bibliografia	Includes bibliographical references (p. [169]-182) and index.
Nota di contenuto	Front Matter -- Contents -- Introduction -- What Is the Revolution in Military Affairs? -- The rma in Historical Perspective -- Is There an rma? An Assessment of u.s. Force Transformation -- Allied Approaches to the rma: Britainn, Australia, France, and Germany -- nato and the rma -- The rma and Peace Support Operations: A Question of Relevancy -- Asymmetric Threats -- Canada and the rma -- Conclusion -- Epilogue -- Notes -- Glossary -- Bibliography -- Index
Sommario/riassunto	Although the RMA has been the subject of much discussion in the United States for over a decade, it has not received the same level of analytic attention in Canada and other NATO and allied countries. Sloan examines the RMA in the context of Canada, Australia, France, Germany, and the United Kingdom in addition to assessing the transformation efforts of the United States Military. She concludes that small and medium military powers such as Canada must, at a minimum, take selected, concrete measures to maximize their military capabilities through the RMA if they are to avoid operational and political marginalisation in the promotion of international peace and security.
