

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910688407503321
Autore	Per Thomas Andersen
Titolo	Story and Emotion : A Study in Affective Narratology
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Scandinavian University Press (Universitetsforlaget), 2016
ISBN	82-15-02750-4
Descrizione fisica	1 electronic resource (186 p.)
Disciplina	801.92
Soggetti	Affect (Psychology) in literature Emotions in literature Norwegian literature
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Sommario/riassunto	Per Thomas Andersen analyzes literary works by Kierkegaard, Dostoyevsky, Ibsen, Hamsun, J.P. Jacobsen, Schoenberg and Knausgaard. Based on perspectives from literary studies, philosophy, cognitive psychology, neurobiology and media studies, professor Andersen analyzes characters in the novels, temporal and spatial aspects of the narratives, sources of emotional impulses, and different ways in which the streams of affects turn out to be as important as events in the narrative style of the chosen authors. Per Thomas Andersen is professor of Scandinavian Literature at the University of Oslo.