

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910690961903321
Titolo	How to protect kids' privacy online [[electronic resource]]
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[Washington, D.C.] : , : Federal Trade Commission, Bureau of Consumer Protection, Office of Consumer and Business Education, , [2000]
Disciplina	004.67026
Soggetti	Children's online information services - United States Internet and children - United States Online information services - Law and legislation - United States Internet and children - Law and legislation - 21st century United States
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	"February 2000"--P. [2]. Title from title screen.
Sommario/riassunto	The U.S. Federal Trade Commission presents information about the rules for Web site operators from the 1998 Children's Online Privacy Protection Act. The commission highlights what the law requires as of April 21, 2000. The law includes actions that the Web site operators must take and that parents should take.