

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910702950503321
Autore	Cropley Alex
Titolo	Crops
Pubbl/distr/stampa	Edinburgh, : A. Fullarton, 1867
ISBN	9781909912656 1909912654
Edizione	[1st ed.]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (301 p.) 1 online resource
Altri autori (Persone)	WrightTom GrayAndy StantonPat
Disciplina	796.33264
Soggetti	Cropley, Alex Football -- United States Football players -- United States -- Biography Soccer players - Scotland Social Sciences Recreation & Sports Statistics.
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Materiale a stampa
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	Description based upon print version of record.
Nota di contenuto	Author Bio; Title Page; Copyright; Dedication; Contents; Acknowledgements; Foreword; Preface; CHAPTER ONE; CHAPTER TWO; CHAPTER THREE; CHAPTER FOUR; CHAPTER FIVE; CHAPTER SIX; CHAPTER SEVEN; CHAPTER EIGHT; CHAPTER NINE; CHAPTER TEN; CHAPTER ELEVEN; CHAPTER TWELVE; CHAPTER THIRTEEN; CHAPTER FOURTEEN; Picture Section; My Greatest Team; Alex Cropley Team Appearances; The Last Word; Also published by Luath Press; Luath
Sommario/riassunto	A nippy sweetie, he was always moaning, but that is often the sign of a great player ? a real determination to succeed and a refusal to settle for second best. PAT STANTONI used to flinch when Studs wound up for a challenge and he feared no one as he sometimes threw his whole body into a tackle. That meant we also spent too much time together in the treatment room. ANDY GRAYAlex Cropley had just left school when he was picked up as one of Scotland's latest football talents. Signed to Hibernian aged just 16, Cropley soon made his name as a player on the team's

---