Nota di contenuto	Managing and coping with transitions -- New poverty and old poverty : livelihood and transition in Laos -- Subsistence affluence or subsistence struggle? : unpicking tradition and illuminating the past -- Poverty, inequality and exclusion -- The best of intentions : policy-induced poverty -- Not in our hands : market-induced poverty and social differentiation -- Making livelihoods work -- Muddled spaces, juggled lives.
Sommario/riassunto	Laos - the Lao People's Democratic Republic - is one of the least understood and studied countries of Asia. Its development trajectory is also one of the most interesting, as it moves from state, or perhaps more appropriately subsistence, to market. Based on extensive original research, this book assesses how economic transition and marketisation are being translated into progress (or not) at the local level, and at the resulting impact on poverty, inequality and livelihoods.

It concludes that the process of transition in fact contributes to the growth of poverty for some people, and shows how
