Note generali	Title from title screen (viewed April 4, 2014). "September 2013." Accompanied by summary report. "This report measures access to SNAP using a new approach that links State-level SNAP administrative records and the American Community Survey (ACS), which surveys a sample of about 2 million U.S. households each year on various demographic factors. The report provides estimates of detailed SNAP access rates for geographic areas (counties and congressional districts) and demographic subgroups in Texas during 2008 and 2009"--Summary, p. [1].
