Sommario/riassunto

How do urban communities in Asian cities experience the impacts of urbanization and climate change? This book throws light on the ongoing processes of rapid urban transformation in many cities in developing countries, with particular reference to cities such as Chennai in India. Due to increasing demands on infrastructures and urban services, cities in developing countries are often pushed to the edge of collapse even when not in times of disaster. Sommario/riassunto Reclus dans sa cuisine d'Aix-en-Provence, emmitoufflé dans sa bure d'hiver, portant béret et lunettes, son éternelle cigarette au bec, il pose sous l'objectif de Robert Doisneau à côté de la machine à écrire d'où sont sorties les pages de L'Homme foudroyé, qui vient de paraître chez Denoël. Tel est le visage de Blaise Cendrars qu'ont pu découvrir, en octobre 1945, les lecteurs du Figaro-Illustré : celui de l'auteur d'« un grand livre, un de ces livres comme il n'y en a pas un en dix ans [...] qui nous transporte, par la maîtrise d'un art littéraire entièrement personnel, hors de tout art, par-delà toute littérature ». Ainsi Maximilien Vox saluait-il la parution de ce premier volume des « Mémoires sans être des Mémoires ». À ce livre foudroyant, les Cahiers de sémiotique textuelle de l'université Paris Nanterre avaient consacré en 1989, sous la direction de Claude Leroy, son quinzième numéro, rassemblant des études critiques, des inédits et des documents. Premier et unique ouvrage jusqu'à ce jour entièrement consacré à L'Homme foudroyé, ce volume est ici republié à l'occasion du programme de l'agrégation de lettres 2020.
