

1. Record Nr.	UNINA9910711835203321
Titolo	Stalingrad: the campaign
Pubbl/distr/stampa	[Fort Leavenworth, Kan.] : , : Army University Press : , : United States Army Combined Arms Center, , [2019]
Descrizione fisica	1 online resource (1 video file (52 min., 29 sec.)) : sound, black and white and color
Collana	[Battle for Stalingrad documentary series]
Soggetti	Stalingrad, Battle of, Volgograd, Russia, 1942-1943 World War, 1939-1945 - Urban warfare Military doctrine - United States Internet videos. Documentary films. Germany Armed Forces History 20th century Soviet Union Armed Forces History 20th century
Lingua di pubblicazione	Inglese
Formato	Videoregistrazione
Livello bibliografico	Monografia
Note generali	"Date posted: 01.04.2019 13:30"--Publisher's website. "Produced by Army University Press in conjunction with United States Army Combined Arms Center"--End credits. Series title from series page on Army University Press website. Video file available for online streaming; also available for download in multiple size options. Transcript and closed caption file also available for download. All downloads require free account registration.
Sommario/riassunto	Beginning in the summer of 1942 with Operation Case Blau (Blue), this documentary covers the German eastward advance and their culmination in Stalingrad. The video ends with the Soviet counterattack in Operation Uranus and the surrender of 6th Army on 2 February 1943. This film also highlights current U.S. Army doctrine as it relates to the large scale combat operations of both Germany and the Soviet Union.